

Eugene Public Library

Grand Opening

JANUARY 11 2003

Welcome to Your New Library

Dear Eugeneans,

“To accomplish great things, we must dream as well as act.”

—Anatole France

The beautiful and functional building that we celebrate today is the result of dreams as well as hard work. While the Eugene Public Library has served its growing community for nearly one hundred years, increasing steadily in both the range of its services and the scope of its collections, the most recent (1959) library building had become sadly undersized over a generation ago. It has taken the sustained efforts of many people over several decades to turn the community dream of a new library building into a reality.

The new Downtown Library is graceful and elegant, its energy efficient design planned for effective provision of library services. Its new location within Eugene’s urban core also contributes immensely to our community’s civic pride. The diversity of our community is well served by the Eugene Public Library. Children are introduced to the joys of reading; hobbies are developed; careers are enhanced; and knowledge and understanding are expanded.

We are now realizing a shared vision, the achievement of a new level of community respect, support and cooperation. Let us join together in celebrating our new library, where all residents of Eugene may discover “A Universe of Ideas and Information.”

History of the Eugene Public Library

1898 Eugene Circulating Library is established in a private residence by the Eugene Fortnightly Club, with members volunteering to keep it open one afternoon a week for its subscribers.

1904 After the state legislature passes the Oregon Library Law in 1903, the Fortnightly Club advocates levying a tax to make the library free to all Eugene citizens, and the library becomes a City service. The Fortnightly Club's 657 volumes become the nucleus of the new Eugene Public Library's book collection. The first Library Board of Trustees, appointed by the mayor, is established in November 1904.

The Fortnightly Club's dedication plaque.

1906 Eugene's Carnegie Library, the first in Oregon, opens to the public in August 1906 at 11th and Willamette. Adelaide Lilley is the Library Director and serves 1906-33. Eugene's population is 6,000.

1933 Elma Hendricks is appointed Library Director and serves 1933-49.

1950 Clara Nasholm becomes Library Director and serves 1950-75.

1954 In November 1954, the voters of Eugene approve a $700,000 bond issue to acquire property and construct a library building to replace the facility on Willamette Street.

1959 The new 37,000 square foot Eugene Public Library, located at 13th and Olive, is dedicated on June 7, 1959. Eugene's population is 58,500.

1962 Bookmobile service is started.

1975 James Meeks becomes Library Director and serves 1975-91.

1976 The Friends of the Eugene Public Library is formed as a support group to promote the library, sponsor programs, and raise funds for library improvements.

1979 The first library computerized catalog system is implemented.

1983 The Eugene Public Library Foundation is founded. A tax-deductible, nonprofit organization, it is dedicated to raising funds for major library projects such as a building fund or endowments.

1986 The City Council appoints the Future of our Library Committee.

1988 The City Council adopts the "Future of our Library" report, which recommends a new library building west of Charnelton on Broadway. This proposal is not implemented.

1991 Voters approve an advisory measure to remodel the former Sears store at 10th and Charnelton to serve as a library building. The measure does not include funding.

1992 The Eugene Public Library is combined with the Hult Center and Recreation to form a single City department – Library, Recreation and Cultural Services (LRCS). Carol Hildebrand becomes Library Director and serves 1992-99.

1993 The City Council eliminates most of the advisory boards and commissions reporting to them, including the Library Board.

1994 In May and November, the City Council forwards to voters two bond measures that contain funding for a new library building, to implement the 1991 proposal. Both are narrowly defeated.

1995 The Internet Public Access Center opens in May with equipment and network connections provided by grant funding. In 2002 the computers are replaced with new equipment provided by a grant from the Gates Foundation.

1998 The Mayor's Library Improvement Committee is appointed. Acting on recommendations from this committee, the City Council dedicates downtown Urban Renewal Funding to construct a new downtown library. The Eugene Public Library Foundation pledges to raise $5 million in donations for the new library construction. In November, Eugene voters approve a four-year local option levy for new building operations, two branch libraries, furniture, fixtures and equipment.

2000 The first Eugene branch libraries open: Bethel Branch and Sheldon Branch. A December groundbreaking ceremony marks the start of construction on the 127,000 square foot, 4-story library building.

2001 Connie J. Bennett becomes Eugene's Library Director. The Mayor's Library Improvement Committee reconvenes to make recommendations for renewal of the expiring 1998 levy.

2002 Voters renew the four-year local option levy to continue branches, to provide operations and staffing for the larger new downtown library, and to bring the library up to state standards in collection and hours open to the public. This levy will expire in June 2007. In December, the library moves into three floors of the new building (96,700 square feet) on 10th Avenue between Olive and Charnelton. The Downtown Library first opens to the public on December 26th. Eugene's population is 140,550.

2003 Grand Opening Celebration for the new Downtown Library is held on January 11, 2003.

First Floor

WEST SIDE

Children's Center: Young readers are lifetime readers! The library's Children's Center serves youth and their parents, teachers and caregivers in a spacious and welcoming environment. In the Children's Program Room (featuring a heated floor), Youth Services staff offer exciting programs including storytimes for babies, toddlers, and preschoolers that delight while they reinforce pre-reading skills. The Children's Center also features electronic resources reserved for use by young readers. A native species view garden is visible from to the north of the Children's Center. Another special feature is the Children's Courtyard, where charming mosaic artwork helps make the library a delightful and fun place as well as a place to satisfy kids' natural curiosity.

CENTRAL AREA

Circulation Services: Borrowing and returning library materials, new cards, and directory information. Behind the scenes, the library's materials handling system conveys books and other materials through an automated return and sorts them onto carts, ready for shelving.

Conference Rooms: These rooms will be used for library programs, and may be rented to provide programming that is free, open to the public, and not for commercial purposes.

Entry Garden: The three-story vestibule houses Friends of the Eugene Public Library's Second Hand Prose used book store and Café Novella coffee shop.

EAST SIDE

This area houses the most popular collections in the library.

New Books: Adult new books, both fiction and non-fiction.

Movies/Music: Entertainment videos and DVDs, and music CDs from classical to Cajun, harp to hiphop.

Young Adult: A wide range of materials appealing to teens, including magazines, audiobooks, and graphic novels.

Second Floor

WEST SIDE

Adult Non-Fiction: The adult non-fiction collection is housed in the west end of the second floor. The collection includes multiple formats; with books, videos, audiobooks, and other formats intershelved for easy location of all materials on a particular topic. Enjoy the elegant two-story space, stained glass art by John Rose, and spacious and comfortable seating.

CENTRAL AREA

Reference Desk: Do you need a specific fact; resources for completing a homework assignment; suggestions for investigating a personal interest, or just a good book to read? Our reference librarians can help you use a variety of print and electronic resources to find information on your topic. For example, home improvement, investments, car repair, scholarships and grants, or learning a new skill are just some of the topics to explore. Resources include computer catalogs and databases, with access to the library's collections as well as databases on business, health, auto repair, careers, and more.

Electronic Resources Center:

Computers with Internet access as well as Microsoft Office applications.

Business & Career Center:

Investment, vocational, and entrepreneurial information.

Language Center: Books in Spanish, magazines, and other media as well as adult materials in other languages, kits and books on learning English, and books for new adult readers.

EAST SIDE

Magazines & Newspapers: Over 400 magazines and 50 newspapers as well as newspaper indexes and microfilm. Enjoy the elegant two-story space, stained glass art by John Rose, and spacious and comfortable seating.

Third Floor

The third floor includes spacious and comfortable seating overlooking the two-story areas on the second floor, and refinished tables from the 1906 Carnegie Library. The Eugene Public Library Foundation office is located here, as well as the offices of the Library's Volunteer Coordinator and the Administrative offices for Library, Recreation, and Cultural Services.

Fiction Readers Advisory: Do you want to find a good book to read? Knowledgeable staff, print and electronic resources, and literature reference are all available on this floor. The third floor features three major collections: Adult Fiction, Audio Books, and Large Print.

Adaptive Technology: The library's growing resources of adaptive technology are also located on the third floor.

Commissioned Art

(throughout the building)

- "Eugene," a life-size bronze of Eugene Skinner seated, hat in hand, gazing north, in the outdoor plaza area of the Library. By James Carpenter of Eugene.
- Mosaic and concrete sculptures, benches and pavement designs and inlays, in the outdoor Children's Courtyard, west of the Library. By Marvin and Lilli Ann Rosenberg of Jacksonville, Oregon.
- "Leif's Dream," a bronze and wood sculpture, in the lobby near the entrance to the Children's Center. By James Carpenter of Eugene.
- Fused and stained glass panels integrated in the two-story east and west bay windows, second floor. By John Rose of Eugene.
- "Works Book Project," a wall installation in various locations of 50 Plexiglas placards based on traditional paper library index cards, with references to books provided by invited citizens. By Mike E. Walsh of Eugene.
- Three "Reading Islands," each comprised of a custom chair, terrazzo floor design, and tree painting in lighted niche. Locations: First floor Children's Center; second floor near Magazines & Newspapers; third floor near Large Print. Created/designed by the late E. James Ulrich and completed by Kathleen Caprario Ulrich of Springfield, Oregon.
- Four oil paintings on the theme of "The Well." By Robert Devine of Eugene.
- "Artifacts of an Event Unknown," four monotypes. By Dennis Keogh of Hawaii.

Friends of the Eugene Public Library

The Friends of the Eugene Public Library is a fundraising non-profit organization supporting the library by funding special programming for children and adults, publishing the Library Matters newsletter, promoting the library in the community and so much more!

The Friends office is on the library's third floor in the Administrative Suite. The Friends also have a small used book store, Second Hand Prose, in the library's Entry Garden.

Eugene Public Library Foundation

The Eugene Public Library Foundation develops advocates, funding, and resources to provide high quality and sustainable services for the Eugene Public Library.

To meet its mission, the Foundation encourages financial contributions through direct contributions and planned giving. The foundation contributed $5 million to the City of Eugene for the new library.

The foundation office is on the library's third floor, and is staffed by Executive Director Barbara Dellenback.
